

Dönges Mobile Screen Wall

Kat. br. 200271

Gawkers have always been a major problem for emergency services. Since almost everyone carries a smartphone and can publish and share photos and videos almost immediately, this problem has taken on completely new dimensions in recent years. But it is not only the additional stress caused by the observers that is a problem, it is not uncommon for police forces to be called in to keep spectators at a distance. Accidents on the oncoming lane at motorway accidents are the daily routine.

With its small pack size, the mobile privacy screen can always be carried along. It can be completely assembled in just a few seconds by one person. The wall consists of a robust, washable tarpaulin material and fibreglass rods. Numerous tabs and eyelets allow easy positioning and tensioning*.

Zips are incorporated at the beginning and end of the wall, so that several walls can be connected together to protect even larger areas from unwanted visitors. It will be delivered in a sturdy transport bag.
