

Fire Blanket 1200 x 1200 mm

3005142

The fire blanket is intended for extinguishing initial fires in catering facilities, restaurants and bars that deal with food preparation (kitchen).

Due to the simplicity of its application and operation at the very beginning of a fire on the stove or other parts of the kitchen, it is not necessary to use a fire extinguisher, which reduces the damage and costs caused by the fire.

Remove the cover from its packaging using the straps located on the bottom of the box and cover the container in which the oil or grease is ignited. This will cut off the oxygen supply and the cover will act on the fire by suffocating it. Turn off the heat / fire source and leave covered until the material has cooled.

When a person's clothes catch fire, lay the person on the floor and quickly wrap them in a blanket and arrange first aid. The fire cover must be placed in a visible and easily accessible place and near areas where there is a high risk of fire.
