

Fire Grapple with handle

1011875

The fire grapple is used to reach hard-to-reach objects from height and depth. It consists of a wooden handle in two parts in red color, and at the top there is an iron hook to reach the object.

High branches can be reached with a hook on technical interventions, which we need to cut. They can also retrieve floating objects from wells, rivers or draw a boat towards the shore.

