

First Aid Refill DIN 13157

3003166

First Aid Refill contains supplies for treating cuts and minor injuries. Keep your first aid kit stocked and ready for common workplace injuries and emergencies with these general-purpose refill kit.

Contents according to DIN 13157. Our refill set complies with the current DIN 13157 and thus meets all guidelines and obligations for companies as well as for public and social institutions. Our refill set is also ideal for use at home. When selecting the materials, we have always paid attention to the highest quality, which means that the contents still have an optimal quality even after the end of durability. After expiry date the contents can be replaced with a cost-effective refill kit. You can continue to use the case, which also benefits the environment.

A first aid kit is a set of products used to provide first aid in the workplace and in other situations. The kit is delivered separately (without cabinet) and is used as contents for a new first aid kit, or a refill for products that have been used up or have expired.

Includes: First Aid Guide

With the help of the included guide you can always keep track of the various first aid actions to be taken. So even non-first aiders in companies can quickly provide effective first aid.

Check the expiration date of certain parts of the content in your First Aid cabinet. Replace the content with new if you have used up the existing sanitary material or it has expired.
